

THE PIER

— BEACHSIDE BAR, COOGEE —

DRINKS MENU

In 1924 construction started on the Pier and the team had been granted a 28 year lease to construct it. Initially plans showed it exceeding 285 metres into Coogee Bay. It was to hold a full size 1,400 seat theatre, a 600 dancer ballroom, a first class 400 seat restaurant, plus numerous shops & arcades.

Owing to rapid funding crisis, the pier was only completed to 180 metres. Even the pier head attractions were scraped! Unlike the calmer waters in Brighton, the incessant pounding and powerful surf that regularly smashed the pier with every south-easterly 'blow' were unrelenting.

Large crowds gathered to watch the first pile being driven on the 24th July 1926. The contracting company claimed the Pier would be considerably stronger than any similar pier constructed in England but over the next few years crowds diminished and there was storm damage. The dream of the 'English-style' resort ended with the demolition of the pier superstructure during December 1933 – May 1934. At low tide, you are still able to see the remains of the Pier on the ocean floor about 50 metres out from shore today."
